Product Manager (m/f/x)

Who We Are

Chain4Travel AG is a travel technology Start-up led by two proven travel entrepreneurs and founded in 2021 based in Baar, Switzerland. Based on blockchain technology, we aim to fundamentally change collaboration models in the travel industry. Chain4Travel is developing the consortium blockchain Camino in collaboration with key industry players who will form the initial node operators. We build applications and mechanics that enable the travel industry to conjointly maintain and govern Camino as the common infrastructure that shall form the shared operating system for global travel. Camino is based on Avalanche and maintains full EVM compatibility for smart contracts. The core is developed using the GO language.

What We Offer

- We offer a unique opportunity to create and shape processes in a Tech-Startup. As such, we invite you to take part in shaping our company

- We are a young and ambitious team lead by proven serial entrepreneurs that collaborates enthusiastically to create the foundation to create new travel experiences

- We work on cutting-edge technology and enjoy disrupting the travel industry with blockchain technology. Accordingly, we equip you with state-of-art working equipment

- While we want to welcome you to our unique headquarters in Düsseldorf, where we work in a distinctive atmosphere, we support mobile working, too

- On office days, we offer free breakfast, lunch, and drinks as well as fruits throughout the day

- To relax from work, we play table soccer, darts, or use the PlayStation 4 at our headquarters

- Part-time models are possible, and we support a job ticket

Chain4Travel

Who You Are

You like boiling down complex issues and systems to the most crucial information and acting as an interface between developers, product management, and external readers. You love jumping into new topics and learning everything about them. You work in a structured manner. You have an eye for details without losing the big picture. You like working independently but also together as a team. Candidates should have:

- Completed studies of computer science, informatics, or an equivalent apprenticeship

- Experience as a product manager or product owner, ideally in the context of software development in travel or crypto

- Fluent in English in speaking and writing, fluent in German is a bonus

- Ability to create a vision of how a software product should work to fulfill its purpose

- Analytical ability to abstract critical information from complex mechanics and use computational thinking

- Flexibility and curiosity, and the ability to lead and moderate an effective communication between business and IT stakeholders

- Experience with requirements engineering

- Nice to have:

    o Knowledge of Powerpoint, Jira, Confluence, Balsamiq
    o Terms like blockchain, ledger, smart contract and wallet are no news to you o Passion to bring the web3 vision of a decentralized web to the world
    o Travel industry knowledge is an advantage

What You Would Do

As a Product Manager, you are in charge of creating the vision of how the Camino mainnet will change the world of travel. You will be listening to the industry's challenges, derive solutions and communicate them to internal and external stakeholders. To achieve this, you work closely with our development team, external partners and management.

Your tasks include:

- Compiling requirements for our software engineers on Epic level for our Wallet, Block Explorer, and more to come

- Creating wireframes and process flows to convey your product vision to our developers, partners and management

- Creating and managing our feature backlog

- Prioritizing features on our roadmap in collaboration with development and management

- Diving into complex mechanics that enable operating, governing, and maintaining Camino as a decentralized operating system for the travel industry

- Conducting workshops and meetings with partners and customers to gather requirements and envision solutions

- Workshops with customers & partners to gather requirements and envision solutions

How to Apply

If you would like to take part in the travel revolution, just send your CV and a short cover letter to jobs@chain4travel.com. We will get back to you as soon as possible!